Admin login:

The admin login portal looks similar to user's login portal. You type in your email and password, then you can manage users, events, and venues. And if users are trying to log in at admin portal, even if they give the correct email and passwords, they will see an error message saying they are not allowed to log in since they are not admins.

Welcome to Pick Up Sports, Admin!

Admin removes events:

There is a “remove event button” on the admin’s homepage. After clicking that button, admin should see all events and there is a dropdown list on the button. By selecting an event admin wants to remove and hit the remove button, you can see the updated events table doesn't have that event anymore.

Admin removes a user:

This works in the same way as to remove events. After admin goes to the remove user's page, admin can see all users and a dropdown list. By selecting a user admin wants to remove and hitting remove button, that user will be removed from the database and you will see it is gone from the user pages.

Admin adds and removes venues:

Removing venues are almost the same as removing users or events, just select one from the dropdown list and remove it. Admin can add a venue by giving the venue name, location, and description. Again, all three inputs are mandatory and you will see the new venue after you hit add button.
